What's New in the DirPrinting?

DirPrinting is a file listing application that's capable of printing information about all files and folders from a specified directory. Otherwise, you can export this data to file, copy it to the Clipboard, or send it via email. It doesn't include complicated options or configuration settings, so it can be used by anyone. Plain and simple interfaceAfter a fast setup operation that shouldn't impose any difficulties, you are welcomed by an outdated interface with an easy-to-navigate structure, where you can use the built-in hierarchical tree to explore disk directories and find out the name, format, date of last modification, along with the size of each file and folder.View, copy, export, print and email file and folder listingYou can instruct the program to show only files or folders instead of both, filter files by extensions, include subdirectories, and to stay on top of other programs. The file list can be previewed and prepared for printing, copied to the Clipboard, saved as a plain text document, as well as sent as an email attachment using the default email client you have installed. Apart from the fact that you can change the UI style, there are no other noteworthy options available.
